

My Beach House on Wheels

BY DEBBIE BREAU

I love to relax in my quaint little Living Room

This is a story about a small town girl that had a big dream for as long as I can remember. I was raised in a very small town on the bayou of Louisiana, one way in and one way out! It is a very small Cajun French town, with the majority of the people there being Cajun French speaking people, back when I was growing up anyway. And yes, somehow I still remain in this small town today. It's a great place to have lived throughout my life but I always had a desire to live on or near the beach.

My favorite movies were Bikini Beach Party with Annette Funicello, Frankie Avalon, and the Eric Von Zipper, I am sure you're wondering what in the world does this have to do with anything.

It has everything to do with how I got to the point of now having my beach house on wheels. I had this dream to live by the beach/ocean and thought one day that it would become my reality! I married very young and my life kind of stood still for a time.

The marriage ended after 18 years of being together and it was time for me to make some decisions of my own. I decided to purchase five acres of property in the hopes of making a big move two miles away, I wanted to build my dream home with a pool to have it feel like resort living. No, it wasn't the beach but it was a beautiful location, and having many gorgeous oak
